

DEMOCRATIC HOSTS AT SARATOGA PULLING WIRES.

ANY MAN WHO WOULD MAKE TAMMANY ANTAGONISTIC TO THE TICKET.

THAT SETTLED GROUT.

The name of Martin W. Littleton was then taken up. McCarren said that he would drop Groat if the leaders were unanimously against him, but he would not take Littleton. Littleton was summoned to the council chamber, and when he came out that he was not a candidate.

MURPHY AND MC'CARREN AGREE.

Schenectady and Ulster counties were then in caucus. They declared for Judge Herriek, and from that time Herriek was the man.

Charles F. Murphy agreed to him, McCarren said he would not fight Herriek and Mr. Hill and Mr. Sheehan agreed to his candidacy. Mr. Sheehan announced the decision of the conference to Judge Parker on the telephone, and secured his hearty indorsement.

When the convention reassembled, after the usual routine resolutions had been offered, Albany County was called upon as the first on the roll for its candidate for Governor. David B. Hill walked to the platform amid great cheering to place Judge Herriek in nomination. He congratulated the convention on the entire harmony with which its deliberations were being conducted, and on behalf of the United Democracy of Albany County said he would present the name of a man who needed no extended introduction to a gathering of Democrats.

"A Justice of the Supreme Court," said Mr. Hill, "it is necessary for him to make sacrifices to accept this office. It is a time when the Democratic party calls for sacrifice from its loyal sons, and he will respond to the call, be assured. There have been differences in our ranks, but this convention marks the close of them all (great cheering). Hereafter our attacks are to be made on the common enemy, and not aimed at each other.

"To bring about the presentation of a man whom to make it has been necessary for some of us to make sacrifices right in Albany County. We had agreed that this is not the time for the exploitation of personal grievances, but the time to do what is best for our party. This nomination can be safely made. Every Democrat can honestly and sincerely cast his vote for it. It will be acceptable to all independent Democrats, and every man in the party can be assured, if this candidate is elected, that the duties of his high office will be honestly discharged and he will deal fairly with every element of the party.

"Victory is in the air. Our action is a promise of splendid results in November. In behalf of the Democracy of Albany County, in behalf of the United Democracy of the entire State, I nominate for Governor Donald Cady Herriek, of Albany County.

There was terrific cheering and then Bourke Cockran, whose name was being yelled from all sides, made his way to the platform to second the nomination of Judge Herriek. He said:

"This is an extraordinary convention of extraordinary features. I never believed that the time would come when I would attend a Democratic convention where there was not a single contest over seats. We presented for the first time in our history yesterday the spectacle of a convention absolutely harmonious as to its own make up. When I first observed this yesterday I suspected that Democratic energies had gone.

"One man who threw a couple of bricks evidently did it just to show the Democrats haven't forgotten how to fight.

A "UNANIMOUS" CONVENTION.

"Yesterday the air was full of missiles, now the unexpected has happened. We have a convention which is to be harmonious to its close. We are unanimous as to our candidate, on our platform, on everything, and we are unanimous in our enthusiasm over the doctrines that have been laid down here by our Chairman. Our temporary chairman has shown us that Democrats are not afraid to proclaim their principles. On behalf of the Borough of Manhattan, New York City, I second the nomination of Judge D. Cady Herriek for Governor, and I ask that the vote be unanimous."

Luke D. Stapleton, of Kings, who also seconded the nomination, called Herriek the "Trenchant Embodiment of Old-Fashioned Democracy."

Hosea Rockwell, of Chemung, said he also seconded the nomination, and did so at the request of the man whose candidacy for Governor he had come here to further, John B. Stanchfield.

On motion of George Raines, Secretary Mason, of the State Committee, cast one vote for Judge Herriek, and he was declared the nominee amid great applause.

Senator Thomas F. Grady placed Francis Burton Harrison in nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, and Charles N. Bulger, of Oswego, seconded the nomination.

Francis Burton Harrison was nominated by the casting of one ballot by Secretary Mason.

George Raines, of Monroe, placed in nomination for Secretary of State John Pallace Jr., of Monroe. He then made a brief address eulogizing Tammany Hall for its splendid government of the city of New York, and praising David B. Hill, to whose efforts he attributed the harmony which has prevailed to-day.

Mr. Mon, of Chautauque, seconded Pallace's nomination, and so did Daniel F. Cahoon, of New York. Cahoon made a special plea for better relations between New York City Democrats and the up-State men and was loudly cheered. The Secretary cast one vote for Mr. Pallace.

D. B. Lacey, of St. Lawrence County, placed George Hall, of Ogdensburg, in nomination for the office of Comptroller.

Frederick C. Schraub, of Lewis, seconded the nomination of Mr. Hall. Henry G. Jackson, of Binghamton, also seconded the nomination, and the Secretary cast one vote for Mr. Hall.

James J. Barrett, of Onondaga, presented the name of William Muench and there were several seconds. Mr. Muench was selected. George H. Kennedy, of Erie, placed John Cunneen in nomination for Attorney-General. The second was William G. Rice, of Albany. Mr. Cunneen was placed on the ticket by the prescribed casting of one ballot.

John D. McMahon, of Oneida, named Thomas Stryker, of Rome, for State Engineer and Surveyor. He was seconded by Elliot Danforth and placed on the ticket.

Patrick H. McCarren was recognized by the Chair. He was greeted with rousing cheers. He said it had been decided to indorse the candidates of the Republican convention for the judiciary, and asked that one ballot be cast for Edgar M. Cullen and William D. Werner. Mr. Hogan, of Onondaga, seconded the motion, and Cullen and Werner were named.

EARLY DAY PROCEEDINGS.

The hall was packed to the doors when the leaders met there, a few minutes after 12 o'clock. McCarren was the first of the big leaders to arrive. He walked down the east aisle amid terrific cheering. The demonstration made not the slightest effect on him. He looked neither to the right nor the left, but sat down looking very tired and warm. The arrival of David B. Hill was marked by a terrific din, and it was five minutes before it subsided.

Charles F. Murphy came in next and the Tammany men fairly tore their clothes in their enthusiasm. The outburst was not checked until William B. Hornblower brought the gavel down with a crash on the table and declared the convention in session.

Duncan Campbell Lee was announced as chairman by the Committee on Permanent Organization and immediately started his speech. He was interrupted with terrific cheering for the young democracy of the State, among whom the Ithaca editor and Cornell professor is considered an ideal. Mr. Lee's speech was a splendid effort. His reference to Higgins's company to Odelism and to general graft were immensely popular and caused great cheering. When he paid a tribute to Senator Platt and said that the trap-door through which was dropped the Tioga statement would yet be his arch of honor, this great Democratic gathering actually cheered.

"Down with graft, up with honesty, down with State groceries, whether they are labelled Newburg or Albany," said Mr. Lee and the convention cheered up with laughter.

Mr. Lee threw the convention into a terrific tumult when he said: "Let a Democratic Governor and place Alton B. Parker in the White House."

It was nearly four minutes before he could resume.

Mr. Lee finished his speech at 1:10 P. M., and recognized George Raines, Secretary, Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions.

Mr. Raines read the platform.

At the head of the ticket was selected the rest of the work was easy.

Mr. Raines on the matter of the Judiciary as the direct respect to Judge Parker's wish, and the ticket was complete in

"GOOD TICKET TO BEAT," SAYS ODELL.

Gov. Odell, when seen at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and notified of the nomination of Judge Herriek and Congressman Harrison, expressed surprise. Then he remarked, with an inscrutable smile: "That is indeed news to me. I think it's a good ticket—to beat. I think either Groat or Shepard would have been better candidates. Judge Herriek is a man of good character. He is not a better man than Higgins. He has not had half the legislative experience, nor does he know the State so well."

The issue in this campaign becomes very clear. It is this: Can we have a better Government at Albany?

There is no hope for honest government from Higgins & Co. any more than there was from Odell & Co. The people of Albany are the silent partner. The Governor may resign; the Chairman may retire, but the company will not be dissolved. The State grocery store will still be doing business along the old, well-established lines.

It is the pride of the United Democracy of New York that to-day we have a leader against whom no man has ever dared even hint that his hands have been soiled with personal graft.

David Bennett Hill.

Our duty, the duty of every New York man, should be clear. His motto and his slogan should be "Down with graft; up with honesty."

Eleven years ago as honest as the sunlight as firm as adamant and as invulnerable as Gibraltar. We must out with State and County whether labelled Newburg or Albany.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

"GOOD TICKET TO BEAT," SAYS ODELL.

Gov. Odell, when seen at the Fifth Avenue Hotel and notified of the nomination of Judge Herriek and Congressman Harrison, expressed surprise. Then he remarked, with an inscrutable smile: "That is indeed news to me. I think it's a good ticket—to beat. I think either Groat or Shepard would have been better candidates. Judge Herriek is a man of good character. He is not a better man than Higgins. He has not had half the legislative experience, nor does he know the State so well."

The issue in this campaign becomes very clear. It is this: Can we have a better Government at Albany?

There is no hope for honest government from Higgins & Co. any more than there was from Odell & Co. The people of Albany are the silent partner. The Governor may resign; the Chairman may retire, but the company will not be dissolved. The State grocery store will still be doing business along the old, well-established lines.

It is the pride of the United Democracy of New York that to-day we have a leader against whom no man has ever dared even hint that his hands have been soiled with personal graft.

David Bennett Hill.

Our duty, the duty of every New York man, should be clear. His motto and his slogan should be "Down with graft; up with honesty."

Eleven years ago as honest as the sunlight as firm as adamant and as invulnerable as Gibraltar. We must out with State and County whether labelled Newburg or Albany.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make the latter hours of this convention memorable for your sanity and wisdom and to fill full of most active and service every remaining day of the campaign, in behalf of the nominees who will be named here to-day and to-morrow."

West Virginia and it's Alton B. Parker and Henry G. Davis.

He praises Parker.

"At the outset I congratulated myself upon the privilege and honor you had accorded me. It remains for me to felicitate you upon the honor you have conferred upon me by your selection of me to make